BE HERE CORPORATION SELECTED TO PRESENT AT DEMOFALL 2006 CONFERENCE

Fremont, Calif. – August 28, 2006 – Be Here Corporation today announced that it has been selected to present its flagship product at DEMOfall 2006. Hosted by Network World and technology industry pundit Chris Shipley, the DEMO conferences are one of the world's premier events for unveiling new and innovative technologies. DEMOfall 2006 will be held September 25 – 27 in San Diego, CA. Be Here has been selected from a pool of hundreds of applicants to be one of 70 companies presenting at the conference.

“Be Here's technology is a good representation of what the DEMO conferences are all about,” said Shipley, executive producer of the DEMO conferences. “Be Here leverages trends in VoIP deployment to provide an easy-to-use appliance that will change the way people meet and interact in the business environment today. And that is what DEMO is all about: never seen before, innovative, emerging and disruptive technologies that will change and enhance the way we work and live.”

Over the past 16 years the DEMO conferences have served as the launch-pad for some of technology's greatest achievements. As well as being a showcase for the future of technology, the conference is a gathering of key industry players including leading venture capitalists, technology gurus and some of the world's most influential journalists.

“We believe that Be Here is at the forefront of changing the way businesses communicate and being selected to present at DEMOfall is a testament to our vision and technology,” said Stephen Von Rump, president and CEO of Be Here. “It is an honor for Be Here to launch at the conference that has introduced some of the world’s leading innovations like the Palm Pilot and TiVo.”
